The American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry recognizes emergency care for infants, children, adolescents, and individuals with special health care needs is an essential duty of every dentist. The American Dental Association's Principles of Ethics and Code of Professional Conduct states that "dentists shall be obliged to make reasonable arrangements for the emergency care of their patients of record".¹ The American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry encourages dentists to provide instructions to the parent² for accessing emergency care. Dental emergencies include, but are not limited to, facial swelling, infections, uncontrolled bleeding, pain, and oral-facial trauma.³ Availability of after-hours emergency care is an important aspect of continuously accessible care provided through a dental home.⁴ Additionally, when consulted for a dental emergency by patients not of record, the dentist should make reasonable arrangements for emergency dental care. If emergency dental treatment is provided, the dentist should recommend that the patient return to his dental home unless the parent expresses a different preference.¹
